Application for Program Extension of F1 Status

The U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) permits program extension for, “compelling academic or medical reasons, such as changes of major or research topics, unexpected research problems, or documented illnesses.” A program extension may not be granted for reasons resulting from academic probation or suspension.

F-1 international students must apply for a program extension before the estimated program end date stated on line 5 of their I-20 form. If you fail to apply for an extension before the program end date, you will be considered out-of-status and you must apply for reinstatement. At present, program extensions may only be granted for up to one year at a time.
