Approval must be submitted in writing. International students also need written approval from the International Student Advisor. These are school-wide semester maximums. Individual programs may have semester maximums lower than these. Noncompliance with a program’s maximum may result in being administratively withdrawn from the semester. Units taken in audit status are not included in these limits.

International Students Enrollment Minimums

The U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service (USCIS) requires international students on F-1 visas to carry a full-time course of study to remain in status. Any exceptions for less than a full-time load must be approved by the International Student Advisor. See “Enrollment Status Classifications” above.
